Language across the Curriculum

A Functional Linguistic Perspective

Speaker:

Dr. Peter Mickan

*University of Adelaide &
Adelaide Research Institute*

November 12, 2019 (Tue.)

10:45~12:15

Ryukoku University Fukakusa Campus
Wagenkan Room B205

In this talk, Dr. Mickan plans to examine disciplinary knowledge and the composition of knowledge with language as texts. As students studying nursing learn technical language to be nurses, disciplines or subjects are cultural expressions of knowledge for peoples' participation in social practices of specialist communities in society. Using documentation of curriculum in schools and higher education, Dr. Mickan will introduce the functional linguistic analysis of disciplinary knowledge.
